

If You're Happy and You Know It

Emotions Activities

INSTRUCTIONS

Materials

Paper

1.5 Inch String

This activity is to start to help make young children aware of how expressions reflects other people's emotions.

Let your child chose one of the characters and explain to them the three expressions that are at the top of the board and what they are called. Then start off by pointing to one of the expressions and ask them to form the shape of the mouth onto the blank face out of the piece of string. Once they have done this you can then start calling out expressions for them to make without showing them directly.
